

Friends School Country Club House

3901 Wisconsin Avenue.

(Formerly the Recitation Hall of the Washington School for Boys.)

Country Addition to Friends School.

The Friends School has recently acquired extensive playgrounds on Wisconsin avenue and has bought the Recitation Hall of the Washington School for Boys.

The building will be used as a Country Club House, and be made headquarters for the outdoor activities of the school. The school now combines the advantages of the city and country school. The splendidly equipped buildings on I street, accessible to the homes of our students, will continue to be used for academic purposes. When lessons are over for the day, students may take the cars at Seventeenth and I streets, and in twenty or twenty-five minutes, for one car fare, reach the clubhouse and playgrounds, where they will have ample opportunities for baseball, tennis, track work, cross-country runs, and games. All the activities and the clubhouse will be under the supervision of the physical directors and teachers. The region is one of the highest in the District, and from it in every direction are beautiful views.

It is hoped that this latest effort of the school may receive the hearty support and co-operation of parents and students.

The Friends School, for twenty-seven years under the same principal, has stood for sound and thorough training. It occupies three well-arranged buildings, with thoroughly equipped laboratories, art and manual training rooms, and gymnasiums. It has well-arranged courses of study, a corps of fourteen teachers, and 200 students. It prepares for any college, and its students are admitted on certificate to all institutions that admit on certificate.

School reopens for new students September 26th; for old, September 27th.
